IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF NEVADA

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

In Equity C-125
 Subfile C-125-B

WALKER RIVER IRRIGATION DISTRICT,

Petitioner,

vs.

STATE OF NEVADA,

Petitioner-Intervenor,

vs.

CALIFORNIA STATE WATER RESOURCES
 CONTROL BOARD, et al.

Respondent-Intervenor.

STATE OF NEVADA'S
 RESPONSE TO MOTION
 FOR INSTRUCTIONS
 AND ORDER

WALKER RIVER PAIUTE TRIBE AND
 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Cross-Claimants,

vs.

WALKER RIVER IRRIGATION DISTRICT,
 a corporation, et al.

Cross-Defendants.

1           The State of Nevada, by and through the undersigned counsel, responds to the United
2 States' Motion for Instructions and Order as follows:

3           In the memorandum of points and authorities supporting its motion, the United States
4 briefly describes the litigation which resulted in the Walker River Decree. The United 5 States notes that "[i]t does not appear from either the pleadings or the Decree that
6 groundwater users were included, or intended to be included, in the original proceedings."
7 The State of Nevada agrees that the Walker River Decree only involves the users of surface
8 waters.

9           The subsequent proceedings in this case also involve only the users of the surface
10 waters of the Walker River and its tributaries. This Court has found no basis for taking 11 jurisdiction over the groundwater users in the Walker River Basin. More importantly, in 12 the motion before the Court, the United States provides no sound basis for expanding the 13 present action to include these groundwater users.

14           Nevada water law has long included the regulation of the groundwaters of this State.
15 In 1939, the Nevada Legislature enacted a statutory appropriation system for groundwater
16 comparable to the system for surface waters. Act of March 25, 1939, ch. 178, 1939 Nev.
17 Stat. 274. The State Engineer has the responsibility for administering both the groundwater 18 provisions and the surface water provisions. NRS 532.120; NRS 534.020. In administering
19 Nevada water law, the State Engineer manages the surface water sources under chapter 533
20 of the Nevada Revised Statutes separately from the groundwater sources under chapter 534.
21 Even in situations in which groundwater rights provide a supplemental source to surface
22 water rights, the State Engineer administers the groundwater source independently of the 23 surface water source. Likewise, this Court should continue to administer the rights of the 24 surface water users on the Walker River system and leave the responsibility of administering
25 the groundwater rights with the State Engineer.

26 . . .

27 . . .

28 . . .

1 For the above-stated reasons, the State of Nevada respectfully requests that the Court
2 instruct the United States to join only surface water claimants as parties and serve them with 3 process.

4 Dated this 24th day of May, 1994.
